

I urge you not to repeal the cross-ownership ban on TV and news media in the same area. If businesses control all of our media, we'll wind up in the same mess that we have with HBO's, where medical care is decided by the bottom line, rather than need. I would hate to see news coverage decided by what will make the most money, over what is the truth. We already have enough grocery store tabloids handling that part of the news! Thank you, Ed Callaway
